How to create a shared Company Profile

- The requested participants receive a request and must agree to it. After approval, the assignment is made, and the joint profile is displayed (the own text is overwritten). Only the admin of the organization (the one with the green gear) can edit the profile. He or she can add other participants as an admin so that they can also edit. However, not too many should work on the same profile, because the changes by each person will be overwritten.
